FLEAS WORKED TOGETHER*Dr. Hugh Black Used Insects As Examples of Cooperation.

At the annual dinner of the Y. M. C. A. held a short time ago, Dr. Hugh Black was speaking of the need for cooperation among all the forces working for good in a community.

"You can never tell what cooperation will do until you try it," said Doctor Black.

A friend of mine who is a noted traveler persisted in going out of the beaten path in a tour of Spain. He was often forced to live in the homes of some of the poorer people for a while and in that way got very close to their way of living. Speaking of one place where he stayed, he said to me: "Why, if all the fleas would have worked together, they could have pulled me out of bed."

At the same dinner the toastmaster, Prof. P. F. Trowbridge, announced that he had been instructed not to act as toastmaster but merely as announcer and that there would be no jokes to season the reports of the officers and committees of the association.

This bothered considerably some of the young after-dinner speakers who had an elaborate system of Ladies Home Journal jokes ready to spring. Some didn't know whether to address "Mr. Toastmaster," or "Mr. Announcer."

One man distinguished himself when he started by addressing "Friends, and members of the faculty."

650 fellows who want to look their best when going home will get a "Tiger" Hair Cut before June 8. Will you be one of them? Tiger Barber Shop, 910 Broadway. (d61)

WORK FOR FACULTY MEMBERS' VACATION

Some Will Spend Summer Teaching or in Research.

A FEW TO EUROPE

M. U. Professors To Colleges In Many Parts of the U. S.

Instead of trips to Europe and to summer resorts, most of the members of the University faculty, this summer, will spend their vacations at work. Those who do not teach classes in the summer school here will teach in other universities, and many are planning to do research or graduate work at other schools. Two or three are planning to take trips abroad, and some expect to take short vacations after the close of summer school.

Five members of the faculty will teach in the summer school at Columbia University, New York. They are Dr. C. A. Ellwood, Dr. Max Meyer, Dr. W. W. Charters, Prof. C. K. Burdick and Dr. Carter Alexander. Doctor Charters will direct the summer school here until the first of July, and then leave it in charge of Dr. J. D. Eliff.

Dr. H. J. Davenport will teach economics in the summer school of the University of Wisconsin. Dr. F. F. Stephens will teach in the summer school at Knoxville, Tenn. Prof. Maurice Parmelee will teach at the University of Michigan, and Dr. G. S. Dodds at the University of Colorado.

Prof. J. A. Gibson will leave soon to attend commencement at Harvard University, and will also attend the summer session there. Gaetano Caviechia and J. A. Underwood, instructors in romance languages, will attend the University of Chicago. The latter part of the summer Mr. Caviechia will be at Cambridge University, England. H. M. Hays, instructor in Greek, will be at the University of Chicago the first part of the summer, and from there will go to Virginia. Dr. E. J. Durand will do research work at Cornell University and F. C. Church, instructor in history, will take his doctor's degree there this summer. Dr. B. F. Hoffman will spend the summer in Chicago.

Those going abroad are Dr. Chester Murray and Louis Selbert, instructor in romance languages, who will be most of the summer in Paris; Dr. G. C. Scoggin, who will be in England and Scotland, and Dr. Sidney Calvert.

Dr. A. M. Belden will spend the summer in Central Lake, Mich., and Dr. W. D. A. Westfall will be at Shore, New York. Dr. Jacob Warshaw will go east after the close of summer school here. E. W. Kellogg, instructor in engineering, will work in Pittsburg. Dr. F. V. Emerson will work in the United States soil survey in Eastern Kansas, and H. M. Scott, assistant in geology, will be in the state geological survey in Missouri.

HE'S "DISCOMYCETES" DURAND

Dr. E. J. Durand of the botany department says he fears his poor handwriting is making him famous. Recently a professor at Cornell University in giving his class in fungi a list of authorities on the different groups, mentioned Doctor Durand as an authority on Discomycetes.

"One way to remember him," he said, "is as the man who can't write plainly."

Shortly after this in a test, the instructor asked for a list of authorities on fungi. One student wrote on his paper:

"Discomycetes—Durand, University of Missouri. It's no use to write him though for you couldn't read his answer if he replied."

Former Student to Teach.

Miss Ollie Ragon, a former student in the University of Missouri, has just been elected to the position of assistant in the art department of the Kirksville Normal School. Miss Ragon has been teaching in a college in Southern Brazil during the past year, and made a 6,000 mile trip to accept her new position. In her leisure time last year she painted a number of pictures, some of which she has had placed on exhibition in the National Academy of Art and Design.

Reveries of College Days

"WHEN evening comes I go to my den to forget the worries of the day. I light my pipe and lay back in my chair, contented, with clouds of smoke about me and my head on my 'Missouri pillow'. My eyes wonder about the room and fall on my 'old Missouri' wall skin. My thoughts go back to my College Days. I go over and take down from the wall my picture of the Columns with their twining ivy. I live over again those happy days that evening. How those mementos make the College Days live again!"
